by Jody Zellen

Last chance to catch Ava McDonough's solo debut at Lowell Ryan Projects: 'All I Hear Is the Symphony' showcases intricate, predominantly black and white mixed media collages. Explore these masterpieces, crafted from thousands of hand-printed images, until 20 January.

LOWELL RYAN PROJECTS

Ava McDonough, a young, self-taught artist based in Los Angeles, makes her solo debut at Lowell Ryan Projects with a mixed media installation titled "All I Hear Is the Symphony." The predominantly black and white works are intricately constructed collages on panel, assembled from hundreds or thousands of hand-printed images. Read Jody's review on What's On Los Angeles.
